The Clark County Community Foundation (CCCF) is pleased to announce the 2017 Grant Cycle Award Recipients. Area nonprofit, charitable, education, and service organizations face many challenges: a high demand for the services they provide, reduced resources from which to draw upon, and the ever-present need for volunteer support. Finding ways to help meet their needs and face these challenges, is a major reason for establishing and operating the CCCF and the Clark County Community Fund. While not all projects were able to receive funding this past year (due to limited funds), plans are already in motion to raise funds for the 2018 grant cycle.
